

Food Scientist Group

Mealtime practice that is fun -

Food Scientist Group is designed to help all children develop a healthy and enjoyable, lifelong relationship with food. The program will help children be more comfortable around new foods to eventually help expand their diet. Peer-based class allow for a fun experience and help to build additional social skills.

Who is this group for?

Children aged 7 - 11 years old:

- Who have therapy goals related to mealtimes
- Can attend sit and participate for 20 minutes at a time

Why should I attend?

- Work towards increasing the range of foods that your child can interact with
- Use gradual desensitization to slowly introduce new foods in a structured hierarchy
